1. the scaling of fortified walls using ladders, as a form of military attack.

If you are looking to scale new heights in performance, Escalade (2401) is your bull. He is the son of the great L Bar Essential and out of an L Bar Automatic Pacesetter daughter. He bends the performance curve with low birthweight and spectacular weaning and yearling weights. His EPDs are stellar in every category. Escalade is moderately framed and super clean with a straight top. On top of all that, he'll eat out of your hand.
