The Beefmaster Breed Tilts the Scales for Ranchers

"The Modesto Bee," a California publication ran the following article in their January 12, 1985 issue. Excerpts are reprinted with permission of reporter Stephen Ferris who covered the California Cattlemen's Association meeting.

JERRY MALTBY

Owner and Manager of the Bovine Test Center near
Oakdale, California

Jerry Maltby is a man who knows a lot about the production of beef. He manages the Bovine Test Center near the farming community of Oakdale, in the San Joaquin Valley, about 100 miles east of San Francisco. Recently, Maltby was one of the speakers at a California Cattlemen's Association meeting.

In essence, Maltby spoke to one subject. "The nation's cattlemen have to become more efficient beef producers if they are going to continue in business." Many agricultural economists throughout the country are painting a dim picture for livestock over the next several months. Principally because cattlemen are having to wrestle with high interest rates and a lowering demand for red meat. As a result, continued Maltby, "We have a number of ranchers who will probably not survive 1985." These feelings were also echoed by Leo Johnson, Assistant Manager of the California Cattlemen's Association.

Historically, the cattle industry has never returned the same margin of profit as have other industries.

Maltby believes those cattlemen who do make it during the coming months will be the better producers. He also believes one of the tools many of these better producers will use is Beefmaster cattle.

Maltby said the breed represents a tool that until a few years ago was not used to full advantage in California. Now, however, he feels the breed is becoming much more popular with cattlemen because it will produce more efficient, heavier animals at weaning weight.

Maltby emphasized the importance of this latter fact to those cattlemen in attendance. He said "The principle is fairly simple, if you can increase the animal's weaning weight it means a higher return to you (the cattle producer) in terms of dollars at sale time."

Maltby continued, "We have a situation now where feedlot operators are paying two to four cents a pound more if the cattle they buy show a little Brahman influence." This of course is true of the Beefmaster animal.

Maltby continued, "The extra weight you will get with these cattle can make the difference in making or losing money."

"The Beefmaster animals perform very well for us, they have always been at the top of our weight gain tests," he said. "The Beefmaster is a very fertile animal with a good sexual maturity. You can turn out heifers at a young age and they will conceive."

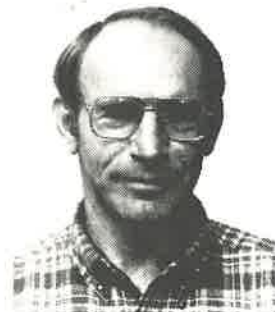

Maltby stated the Beefmaster animal had a number of advantages . . . "They can handle colder climates and can survive well where the purebred Brahman has problems. Beefmasters have done well in northern California, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and Canada but the reason they are such a hit is simply that the guys are making more money with them."

It is Maltby's feeling that this same Brahman influence also brings to the Beefmaster a high degree of disease resistance.

The Bovine Test Center in Oakdale has tested more Beefmasters than anyone else in California. Most of the animals have come from California although Maltby said the Center had tested Beefmasters from a number of other areas as well. The Center's bull testing division takes in cattle for 140 days to run gain tests on them. The owners are then sent computerized reports stating the results of those tests. In addition to testing, the Center also carries on an embryo transplant program.

Stanislaus County Farm Advisor, Bill van Riet, informed the group that the Beefmaster breed was developed by Tom Lasater in 1931 near Falfurrias, Texas.

Editor's Memo's

Dear Mary,

Beefmasters do sell themselves. We live on a dirt road and our bull pasture is even further off the road. My brother is building a new house and he graded a road next to the bull pasture. By the third day the people building the house drove by, they were really interested in them. The next day they purchased one and are almost ready to buy another one. These bulls were never advertised for sale because I was going to keep them till they were 18 months old. But people know a great breed of beef cattle when they see them.

Thanks for all your help.

Sincerely yours,
Stanley Wilbanks
Baldwin, Georgia

Dear Mary,

You may have recently received, via UPS, a special bronze-on-walnut plaque entitled "Payweight."

This limited edition was done by Jerry Palen especially for the state and purebred associations affiliated with NCA. It signifies our appreciation of your association's service to the beef cattle industry and your affiliation with the National Cattlemen's Association.

I am proud to present this plaque to the Foundation Beefmaster Association on behalf of NCA. I hope you will display it permanently in your association headquarters.

Please check your plaque and inform John Carson in this office if it has any shipping damage.

Sincerely,
John Meetz, Sr. Vice President
National Cattlemen's Association

Editor's Note . . .

Due to the many requests that we receive from members asking for FBA ranch signs, we are getting bids from several sign companies to produce a metal baked enamel sign. We will let you know as soon as more details are available.

In Sympathy . . .

Mrs. Ethel Matthews Casey passed away March 30, 1985. Mrs. Casey, a descendant of a long standing ranching family was an honorary member of Foundation Beefmaster Association. She passed away at her home in Albany, Texas at the age of 97. We offer our condolences to Dr. and Mrs. Watt Casey and the family.

NEW FACTS ABOUT FOUNDATION FACTS

with your Advertising!

NEWSPAPER FOR FBA

The Foundation Beefmaster Association newsletter Foundation Facts will be coming to you quarterly (May, September, December) on an expanded newspaper format. The FBA Board of Directors accepted the expansion of Foundation Facts, as it will enable the Association to reach a larger audience — we're shooting for 5,000 circulation. Papers will reach all FBA members — in addition to names you have supplied, will be sent to potential customers, auction yards, bull test stations, colleges, etc.

The newspaper (or tabloid, as we say in the business) will be a change in FBA communications (at least, quarterly), but the change will mean growth and new markets for FBA breeders. You will still receive your Foundation Facts newsletter those months the tabloid is not printed.

Production of the quarterly newspaper will be done by AglImages. We're pleased to have been chosen to work with the FBA on this increased version of Foundation Facts and look forward to publication of the first paper in May. We've enjoyed our contact with you in the past (FBA Yearbook) as you FBA members show enthusiasm for your cattle and their promotion. We hope it continues!

We would like for the Facts tabloid to become a valuable marketing tool for members. And with your help it will be.

CIRCULATION

FBA members will help in circulation enlargement, as mentioned previously, by sending in names for the mailing list. We ask for U.S. addresses only. Foreign mail requires special handling and additional postage and cannot be mailed free. Please check with AglImages or the FBA office on foreign mail.

ADVERTISING

The tabloid will be free and funded entirely by advertising monies. We need a minimum of ten, one-half page or larger, contract advertisers for the first four issues. Contract advertisers are entitled to special discounts and a prepaid discount as well.

DEADLINES

The deadlines for the 1985 issues will be as follows:

April 25th for the May edition

August 25th for the September edition

November 25th for the December edition

ADDITIONAL NEWSPAPERS

There will be an overrun on each issue of the Foundation Facts newspaper, which will be shipped to the FBA office. They will use these for inquiries, etc.

Panhandle Beefmasters Breeders Association Holds 1st Seminar and Sale

Saturday, March 30, 1985, marked the beginning of a new era for Texas Panhandle Beefmaster Breeders when 32 men and women gathered at Tri State Fair Grounds in Amarillo to welcome guests to the first PBBA seminar and sale. The field day was a two-fold effort to educate the public concerning the Beefmaster breed and for marketing Beefmaster cattle to both seedstock breeders and commercial cattlemen.

Consignors were Dixon Beefmasters, Rampley Beefmasters, Duree Beefmasters, Schott Beefmasters, Starr Beefmasters, L N Beefmasters, Martinez Beefmasters and Stafford Farms Beefmasters.

Featured speaker was John Musser of Delta, Colorado. His topic was "The Origin of the Beefmaster Breed." Jay E. "Jed" Flake, Foundation Beefmaster Association President, addressed the assembly and explained FBA's philosophy. Gary Frenzel of Temple, Texas, delivered a message on "Cross Breeding with Beefmaster Bulls." The winning ticket for a Beefmaster bull was drawn from those registered in attendance. Justin Griffin, age 7 of Claridon, Texas was the lucky winner.

Serving the satellite as officers are: President, Stuart Dixon, Matador, Texas; Vice President, Jerry Hicks, Amarillo, Texas; O. C. Rampley, Secretary/Treasurer, Silverton, Texas. Foundation Beefmaster Association Executive Secretary, Mary Wilkinson was also on hand to provide interested cattlemen with information on the breed and its registry. Panhandle Beefmaster Breeders Association is a regional affiliate of the Foundation Beefmaster Association, headquartered in Denver, Colorado.

Hot Off The Press . . . Dale Lasater's new book is available from Texas A&M University Press.

Falfurrias
Ed C. Lasater and
The Development of South Texas
Dale Lasater

When Ed Lasater first saw the Loma Blanca, he immediately recognized his "Land of Heart's Delight." He promised himself he would own that land—all of it. The story of his life there as cattleman, land developer, political reformer, and dairyman unfolds a little-known chapter of South Texas history.

In addition to serving as president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raiser's Association, Lasater ran for governor of Texas in 1912 on the Progressive ticket, served under Herbert Hoover as chief of the Department of Livestock and Food Production in the U.S. Food Administration in 1917, and worked to combat the early bossism of Starr and Duval counties.

Written by Lasater's grandson Dale, Falfurrias is a penetrating look at how character and history once met to form a land.

"It is one of the few true breeds developed in the United States," said van Riet, who also noted that the Foundation Herd was moved to Colorado in 1949."

Van Riet said Lasater crossed three breeds — the Brahman, Hereford and Shorthorn when he began his project. Van Riet stated the Hereford was picked because it was the standard breed at the time on the western range. The Shorthorn was selected because it added a great deal more milk production and thus heavier weaning weights and the Brahman was chosen for its adaptability, hardiness and disease resistance.

"The Beefmaster produces a small calf that makes calving easy and yet still grows to a heavy weaning weight with 600 pounds and better not uncommon," said van Riet.
