FBA Bulls Shine on Southern Grass

Southern Beefmaster Breeders are utilizing the South Mississippi Forage Test for the organization's official bull test. 135 bulls representing 12 breeds were enrolled in the all grass forage test.

The final 140 day test weight found several FBA bulls at the top of this group. Wallace 203 ranked 6th on grass gain and 11th on weight per day of age. He had the largest scrotal circumference measured at 40 cm, and the 2nd largest pelvic area measured at 208 cm<sup>2</sup> (13x16).

Wallace 231 ranked 7th on gain and 7th on weight per day of age. War Eagle 6 ranked 15th on gain and 17th on weight per day of age. He had the 5th largest scrotal circumference and shared 2nd largest pelvic area of 208 cm<sup>2</sup> (13x16). Gowan 132 had the 3rd highest weight per day of age of the 135 bulls tested.

War Eagle 6 ranked 15th on the South Mississippi Forage Test with a gain of 355 lbs. He ranked 17th on weight per day of age. He had the 5th largest scrotal circumference and second largest pelvic area.

Wallace 203 ranked 6th on the South Miss Forage Test with a 140 day gain on grass of 380 lbs. The bull ranked 11th on weight per day of age, 1st on scrotal circumference and second on pelvic area.

Gowan 132 had the 3rd highest weight per day of age of the 135 bulls tested on the South Mississippi Forage Test. The bull gained 2.40 lbs. per day for life on grass.

Editor's Mail

Dear Mary,

There are a lot of FBA members who, like me, have not always been in the ranching business and have another job or are retired. We got into the business because we liked cattle, cattle people and the lifestyle in general. We found after we got in that there was a lot to learn and a lot of the learning came the hard way (making dumb mistakes, etc.).

One of the most important decisions was to select the right kind of cattle. We passed that test when we choose Beefmasters and FBA. The next decision, and the one with the strongest influence on the herd is selection of the herd sire.

The old adage that "the bull is half the herd" is absolutely true (some say even more than half) and should be remembered.

A lot of breeders work hard to improve their herds, only to realize after years of effort little improvement, and the problem often is the use of inferior herd sires. Most of us at first try to get by without spending too much for a herd sire but realize after awhile this is a mistake.

I have observed at recent FBA bull sales that many of the top performing bulls were being bought by commercial cattlemen. This is a true compliment, because these breeders realize the economic importance of using genetically superior bulls. However, some of the lower performing bulls were bought by purebred breeders, the one who should be producing top seedstock for the commercial cowman.

The point is, if we aren't willing to pay as much or more than a commercial cowman for a superior herd sire, how can we expect to produce offspring with the genetics to improve our Beefmaster breed and to hold the position we now enjoy?

Sincerely,
Bob Boswell
Director

Dear Friends,

We had a good bull sale here on February 27 with 235 good, performance-tested BEEFMASTER bulls, averaging $1791. The bulls sold in two hours and 45 minutes to forty buyers from six U.S. states and four states in Mexico.

I've put together some data for you which sums up the results of Dad's fabulous 55-year career as one of the world's leading cattle breeders.

The birthweights are calves out of first-calf heifers sired by various semen bulls which are high-performance individuals. The low birthweights are the result of many years' breeding as yearlings.

The excellent feedyard closeout is for calves sired by Isa bulls, bought straight off the cows and fed through the Panhandle winter. They sold on the formula to Iowa Beef the week of 2/17 for $2.27 over bulk choice steers as reported by TCFA. Again, this is the result of many years' performance-testing and selection for carcass conformation. IBP is paying this money because these are the right carcasses for the trade.

We bought these calves at the D & B calf sale which will be held this year at Tampa on April 23rd. I plan to attend this sale and look forward to seeing some of you there.

Please call me if you have questions about this data or how these genetics can help your program. Don't forget our 30th Anniversary Sale on October 3rd, which will feature 270 service-ready bulls.

Also, we have some very attractive certified and commercial BEEFMASTER females available for sale.

Best Regards,
Laurence M. Lasater

Bertha, the world's oldest cow, turned 48 on March 16th, 1992. The ancient bovine resides near Kenmare, Ireland and has produced 39 calves.

Cattle Prices Hit New High For The Week

The Central Plains States reported prices averaging $85 to $86 at the beginning of last week, setting a new record. Weather-related currentness was seen as the main factor supporting prices. In addition, "Demand is good, there are less competing meats than was anticipated, and we are getting some assistance from exports," says Topper Thorpe, executive vice president of Cattle-Fax. Thorpe cautioned, however, that higher prices have also been accompanied by sharp rises in production costs and reduced weights, reducing feeder profitability overall. Fed-cattle supplies are seasonally tight at the moment, but increasing supplies in late spring and summer, Easter featuring of competing meats—mainly ham—and packer and consumer resistance to higher prices likely will bring prices down during the next few weeks. Through April, however, prices are expected to remain very strong.

NCA Opposes Reducing Meal Deductions

NCA and other commodity groups have asked members of Congress to oppose a measure in President Clinton's economic package that proposes reducing business-meal deductibility from 80 to 50 percent. More than one third of business-meal deductions have been filed by business operators who are self-employed or work for companies with less than 100 employees, and more than half of business lunches and dinners are purchased at low and moderately priced restaurants, the groups pointed out in a letter to Congress. Reducing such legitimate business expenses would unfairly affect foodservice jobs and legitimate and necessary business expense, the groups wrote. NCA has an additional concern in the matter—beef often is more expensive than other entrees, and lowering business-meal deductibility likely would encourage business people to purchase less expensive, non-beef meals.

Helen Kinnaman Dies March 27

Mrs. Helen Kinnaman, 69 former resident of Weldon Valley died Saturday morning at the Colorado Plains Medical Center.

Mrs. Kinnaman was born May 1, 1923 in Ft. Morgan. She was raised in Weldon and graduated from Weldon Valley High School in 1941.

On June 23, 1943,, she was married to Claude "Bud" Kinnaman in Orchard. They lived in Palm Springs, California and operated a livery service in the Rocky-Mountain Park during the summer months.

In 1963 they returned to Colorado where they operated a Grade A Dairy and later the Flying Bee Mobile Home Park.

Mr. Kinnaman died May 14, 1982 and in 1988 Mrs. Kinnaman sold the dairy and moved to Ft. Morgan. She was a member of the Does and the Morgan County Cattle Women.

She is survived by one son, Conrad of Pine Bluffs, Wyoming; three sisters: Rose Megn of Ft. Morgan, Dorothy Melcher of Northglenn and Louise Boston of Brush; two brothers, Herman Hoke of Greeley and Jake Hoke of Weldon.

Memorial Services were conducted on March 31 at the Jolliffe Chapel.

Beef Pie Outshines Traditional Fillings

It wasn't a cherry pie. It wasn't an apple pie. It was a beef pie—Beefy Mushroom Pie, to be exact—that took top honors in the Crisco American Baking Celebration Competition held recently in New York City. Pauline Murrill of Cascade, Mont., says that state cook-off organizers chose beef as the product most representative of Montana for their state competition. "I basically made this pie for my husband," says Murrill. "It's meat and potatoes!" In the Good Housekeeping Institute kitchens, Murrill notes that four of the top 10 pies were apple. She was sure that one of them would win. The beef pie was the only pie that was not fruit-filled. "You could smell my pie over all the other pies in that test kitchen," Murrill laughs. After the contest, Murrill recalls that several judges made it a point to tell her that her pie was the finest they'd ever eaten. Pauline and husband Rick, live and work on the Dana Ranch. Murrill's winning recipe will be featured in the August issue of Good Housekeeping.

Beef Contamination Apparently A Hoax

Federal and state health officials in Austintown and Boardman, Ohio, forced supermarket officials to remove all fresh meat from their shelves Thursday after a man claimed to have injected fresh beef with AIDS-contaminated blood. The man was later arrested. He was charged with knowingly communicating false information that a consumer product had been tainted—a federal offense for which the maximum penalty is a $25,000 fine and five years in prison. FBI officials said they were convinced no product contamination had occurred. Centers For Disease Control officials said the exposure to air or high heat would likely kill fragile blood-carried diseases, even if injection had occurred.

NCA Supports 'Healthy' Label On Meat

If the government decides that it is in the best interest of consumers to define the term "healthy" on nutrition labels, then NCA would support a USDA definition of the term, NCA said in written comments submitted recently to USDA. USDA's proposed rule would link the definition of "healthy," (and its derivatives) to the existing definition of the term "lean" on meat and poultry nutrition labels. USDA proposes permitting use of the term "healthy" on labels of meat and poultry products containing less than 10 grams of fat, less than 4 grams of saturated fatty acids, less than 95 milligrams of cholesterol, and not more than 479 milligrams of sodium per 100 grams of raw product and per Reference Amount Customarily Consumed (a serving size defined by the government). NCA, however, believes the allowed sodium level should be 720 milligrams to continue production of low-fat beef products which require sodium to maintain adequate moisture. NCA opposes the Food and Drug Administration's (FDA) proposed definition of "healthy" which demands such low levels of fat and saturated fat that most cuts of meat and poultry would not qualify. "If lean meats cannot be labeled as healthy because of the inherent fat content of muscle meats, there is little incentive for the industry to further its research and production of leaner red meat," NCA wrote. "It is absurd to think that if FDA's proposal is accepted, jelly beans could be labeled 'healthy,' but meat could not."

Lower Tariff May Mean Bigger Beef Sales

U.S. beef exports to Japan should increase significantly during the next year following reduction of the Japanese tariff on beef from 60 percent to 50 percent. The reduction was effective April 1. Last week's tariff decrease was the final scheduled tariff reduction agreed to in the 1988 U.S./Japan beef agreement. NCA played an instrumental part in securing that agreement. NCA will continue to seek further tariff reductions in the Japanese market and recently contacted U.S. Trade Representative Mickey Kantor regarding the issue. NCA Foreign Trade Committee Chairman Clay Daulton of Madera, Calif., pointed out to Kantor in a recent letter that beef is very sensitive to Japanese tariffs. "There is at least a one-to-one, or better, ratio between tariff reduction and increased sales," Daulton wrote to Kantor. "Our figures show that when the tariff was reduced from 70 percent to 60 percent in 1991 (a 14 percent reduction), exports to Japan increased 18 percent. The reduction from 60 percent to 50 percent (a 16.7 percent decrease) should result in significant increase in exports."

Beefmaster Breeders Sale At Mt. Vernon, Missouri Considered One Of Most Successful!

Heart-Of-America Beefmaster Breeders Sale at Mt. Vernon, Missouri, April 10th, can be considered one of their most successful, according to HOA president, Barbara Truitt. A near record number attended from eight states to see 75 head of Beefmasters sell.

The top selling animal was a Morgan-Gibbons Beefmaster bull. The bull brought $3,700, and the top selling female was a $2,000 cow from Ziler Beefmasters. There were 46 different buyers with Glenn Kersey of Claremore, OK the volume buyer.

Charles Rainwater took home the trophy for the first place futurity heifer, Clearwater Beefmasters and Ziler Beefmasters 2nd and 3rd. Twenty-four 2-year-old and older bulls averaged $1,688, with the yearling bulls averaging $1,295. Bred females and cow/calf pairs averaged $1,330 and open heifers averaged an oven $1,000.

Sale Manager, Walter Truitt stated "The cooperative spirit of the HOA members and the quality of the cattle consigned to the sale made this ale on of our best."

At the annual HOA membership meeting held the evening before, three new directors were elected to serve three year terms. Those elected were Mike Ziler, Avilla, Missouri, Bill Ross, Green Forest, Arkansas and Roy Ratliff, Kansas City, Kansas. Barbara Truitt was re-elected president Charles Rainwater, Vice-President and Oran Tracy, Secretary/Treasurer.

The next meeting for HOA will be the Board meeting July 10th at Walt and Barbara's for lunch with the meeting beginning at 1 p.m. All the members are invited to attend. The final plans for the September 25th Field day at Santana Ranch will be one of the items discussed.

Heart-Of-America finished up their year with 71 members, the second largest satellite in FBA.
